

My latest 18 articles are available to anyone/everyone who is happy to exchange energy with me.

If you can't quite raise enough money to go to your next event, then you feel like you are missing out! If it's expensive then it's deemed valuable and people value a good deal more than stuff that is freely available.

I cogitate about whether or not I should continue to make my articles available without any charge.

I have decided to continue to gift them to you but to also give you the opportunity to send me a gift – you know – an exchange of energy...

Just send me an email at the below address and I'll send you the pdf along with my account details. All gifts are gratefully received – thank you.

All the very best to you...

~ Gary Bate.

gary@whatstress .com